NEW SOUTH WALES PARLIAMENT.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 17.

THE SPEAKER took the chair at twenty-nine minutes past 4 o'clock.

SHIENMENT OF COAL AT NEWCASTLE.

Mr. TOWER asked the Secretary for Public Works,—“Is the Government aware that large vessels have either left, or are about leaving, the colony of Victoria for parts in India and America in ballast; that the masters of said vessels, in their load, will bring with them the coal required for the delivery, and in view of the insufficiency of the shipping facilities at that port?—2. Has the Government taken any steps towards improving the facilities for the shipment of coal?—3. If so, what will the cost be?”

Mr. H. C. BROWN said that the Government had not been made aware of such was the case; but it was known that complaints had been made that the shipping facilities at the port of Newcastle were insufficient. Yes. As regards the improvement of deep water and narrow channels, the work would be proceeded with as fast as possible. There would be tenders in next Quarter for the construction of four additional cranes and further wharf accommodation, and improved regulations for shipping and trimming the coal on board vessels had been prepared and were now under the consideration of the Government. A sum of £30,000 had also been placed on the loan estimates for 1874 for two more steamers.

FREE RAILWAY PASSES.

Mr. STEWART asked the Secretary for Public Works,—“Is it the Government's opinion that the Roman Catholic Bishop of Bathurst, travels free by train?—2. If so, by whose authority is he allowed to do so?”

Mr. SUTHERLAND said it was not a fact that Dr. Quin travelled free, nor had he ever received a free pass from the Church.

Mr. WILKINSON asked the Secretary for Public Works,—“1. Have any free railway passes been issued to members of the Press between the 1st September, 1873, and the 16th instant?—2. If so, what are the names of the persons to whom such passes were issued?—3. The journeys, respectively, of those persons were?”

Mr. SUTHERLAND answered—1. Yes. 2 and 3. Editor of Orion, Sydney and Ballarat; and return. Mr. VANCE, Sydney to Ballarat, and return. Mr. HEASTON, Newcastle to Maitland, and return.

Mr. COMBES asked the Secretary for Public Works,—“It is true that the contractors of the Yass extension of the Great Southern Railway are to be permitted to use white guns for posts in the fencing required on that railway.”

Mr. WATSON proposed a motion, signed by over 400 electors of the Leichhardt residing at Yass, in reference to additional representation for the electorate. The petition was received, but subsequently referred to be informal.

DENILIQUIN AND MOAMA RAILWAY BILL.

On the 16th instant, this bill was read a third time, passed, and sent to the Legislative Council, with a message inviting concurrence.

THE BREDFORD BRIDGE.

Mr. RODD moved—“That there be laid upon the table of the House the bill introduced by Mr. Bradwood, and Mr. Richard Haunford of Broadford, relating to the construction of the Bredford Bridge, together with all correspondence, including minutes, letters, &c., relating to Mr. Haunford's claim upon the Government for compensation.”

THE CASE OF MR. HENRY BARON.

Mr. RODD moved—“That an address be presented to the Governor, praying that his Excellency will be pleased to cause to be laid upon the table of this House copies of all documents bearing reference to the abolition of the office of William Henry Baron, resident engineer, Clarence River, together with copies of applications made by him for compensation for loss of such office.”—Carried.

It was ordered that the document be printed.

UNLAWFUL PROMISES BILL.

Mr. STEWART moved the second reading of this bill. It brought before the House in a very few minutes that a bill had been introduced. According to the preamble of the bill “it hath become customary with certain clergymen when performing the marriage ceremony between a Protestant and a Roman Catholic to exact a promise from the Protestant that the exercise of the marriage should be brought under the control of the Roman Catholic faith.” Not, it might be, that some hon. members would dispute the fact. They would hardly think it possible in this colony at the present time, but the fact was indisputable. Attention was called to the statement of Mr. Lang, that he had been informed by one of the Sydney papers in which he stated that the information given was that the Roman Catholic Church made an order that no Protestant and Roman Catholic should be married in the Church, but it was found to be as unsatisfactory for their purpose as it was modified, and this new clause inserted the bill.

The clause provided that a promise was given by the church provided that the children should be brought up as Roman Catholics. He held in his hand a pamphlet published by the Sydney Catholic Truth Society. Under the heading of Marriage Ceremonies, the pamphlet stated—“The Catholic Church does not like her children to marry those who are not Catholics; she very much dislikes it. She thinks it full of mischief, and she shows her dislikes by putting difficulties in the way of those who desire to marry. She has done this, and by not allowing the full ceremony, which she dislikes at other times to show her reverence and love for the sacrament of marriage.” Now the Church could of course refuse to give her blessing to any one if she pleased. The tract went on to say—“Nor will the Church allow the marriage of her children to others, unless it has been made by the two persons—the Protestant as well as the Catholic.” 1st. That the Catholic, whether man or woman, shall have the fullest and freest use of the Catholic religion; and 2ndly, that the Protestant, whether man or woman, shall be entitled to the same freedom in the exercise of his religion. The tract alluded to, from which the clause was derived, was from a pamphlet published by the Catholic Truth Society.

Mr. PARKES moved that the bill be read a second time, and that the clause be struck out. The clause was agreed to, and the bill was read a second time.

Mr. PARKES laid upon the table a return move by him for the benefit of Kiana for teachers in Roman Catholic schools.

It was ordered that the document be printed.

MANAGEMENT OF ROADS BILL.

On the motion of Mr. LUCA'S, the House resolved itself into Committee of the Whole to consider as to the desirability of inserting in a bill to make better provision for the management of roads.

Mr. JACOB had expected the question to have fallen silent, but he did not feel inclined to say anything more than that the bill had been satisfactorily proved. He dare say that the Attorney-General would be inclined to say that the tract from which he had obtained that clause was not the practice. He believed that the bill would provide for the election of trustees by the people themselves, and that the thing which he had done was to give as far as his man, friend the member for Kiana, and therefore he should vote against the bill.

Mr. LUCA'S did not think that he had a right to interfere with the bill, as it was a very good one. He thought that they still made promises if the bill was passed, and they need not keep them if they did not like it. It was not legal for people to make such promises.

Mr. ALLEN said the Joint Stock Bank Act was passed between the English and Scottish Bank and the City Bank Act with the restriction to be inserted in the English and Scottish Bank Act, so that there was no reason why the same should not be inserted here which was not in those Acts.

Mr. LUCA'S said the committee would not be satisfied with the bill as it was, and that nothing was inserted here which was not in those Acts.

Mr. ALLEN said that the bill had quite overlooked an element in the subject, and which was very important. While the bill provided for persons holding religious beliefs, it did not provide for the case of those who held no religious beliefs; and thus this might be an evasion of the law.

Mr. COMBES said this was the case of the hon. member for Kiana.

Mr. FORSTER would not say that. But the hon. member had done justice to the class of persons who hold a religious faith, he ought certainly not do it to the class of people who did not hold any faith, but who yet might wish to educate them in some religious faith. Although it might be very desirable to prevent religious corporations from extending undue powers over their followers, yet men must under any circumstance be allowed to follow the religious path which they chose.

Mr. LUCA'S said that the bill had been satisfactorily proved. He dare say that the Attorney-General would be inclined to say that the tract from which he had obtained that clause was not the practice. as he was concerned, the matter ended. The Hon. member for Bradfield was pleased to do so, but the Hon. Chief Secretary and Minister for Works acknowledged that the granting of these passes to this gentleman was wrong. He would like to know whether these have been granted to other members who have not had the privilege of so much notice by the House as it had been of greater public importance. The principle was the same, whether the matter be great or small. He trusted if from past experience to be right, in future, Government would grant some passes which the present members were not entitled to obtain free passes from presenting them; but while he said this, it must not be supposed that he was in favour of free passes, because if a resolution was brought forward to abolish them, he would support it, though it might be difficult to deprive the Parliament of the privilege. The practice of giving free passes to poor persons to enable them to go into the interior had been greatly abused, and he had known cases where persons had gone up to Bathurst, to the coast, or even to the interior, having no money, and come back to Sydney. He had also known cases where persons had reached Bathurst and the neighbourhood from the Benevolent Asylum in Sydney, and, after being there for a few days, had come to the result of going for money to enable them to pay the railway fare home again. He thought such abuses ought not to be allowed to exist. He had no doubt that the discussion which had taken place would prevent the Ministry from allowing these irregularities to take place, and he would thank the members of the House, without naming them, for their concurrence.

Mr. SPEAKER pointed out that, as the "previous motion" had been moved, the original motion could not be withdrawn.

Mr. ELLIS withdrew his amendment, and the original motion was withdrawn.

FRANK RICHARDSON, Agent.

To THE INHABITANTS OF SYDNEY,
THE SHIP "EVERGREEN."

In the large room at Mr. SANDERS' Stationers, 324, George-street, my Picture is placed once more for your inspection. It is made by joining more than 4000 pieces of wood together, so that it is a solid picture, 6 ft. high by 10 ft. wide, and weighs 100 lbs.

I have been requested to exhibit it at the Royal Exhibition, and I am doing so.

It is a picture of the "Evergreen," a ship which has been lost at sea, and I have had it made by a master carpenter, and I am doing so.
